

MOTIVE8 CURRICULAR PROVISION

The objective of motive8's curricular provision is to meet a school's physical education targets. motive8 can provide curricular PE lessons in primary schools to cover both PPA time and ensure high quality PE provision. Our session plans and schemes of work are designed in line with National Curriculum guidelines. All are delivered by our qualified, experienced and motivating coaches.

BENEFITS TO THE SCHOOL

- Cover of PPA time, effectively eliminating the need to bring in supply teachers
- By utilising the same coach for each PE session, we can provide a consistent and thorough assessment of the children's progression and measure progress against set learning objectives
- Assessments carried out by our coaches are in line with National Curriculum PE attainment levels
- If it is inappropriate to deliver a practical session, our coaches can provide a classroom-based session relating to healthy living, understanding the body in relation to physical activity, team building or exploring tactics and team play in sports

MOTIVE8 DELIVERY

- Coaches cover all the core aspects of the PE curriculum, including games, athletics, gymnastics and dance
- Adhere to strict coach to child ratio of 1:15 which helps children progress at an appropriate rate with close care and supervision
- All lead coaches possess a minimum level 2 national governing body coaching award and are part of the motive8 coach development programme
- All coaches are CRB-checked and undergo an extensive performance management process to ensure that they are always delivering to motive8's high standards
- We believe in a close working relationship with our schools at all times and will liaise with the school to devise a bespoke, rolling curricular programme
- All coaches possess current emergency first aid and safeguarding and protecting children qualifications

“PE makes a distinctive contribution to the aims of the national curriculum. The “PE Programme of Study” provides the framework to plan sequences of work, learning outcomes and teaching approaches that develop successful learners, confident individuals and responsible citizens.

Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency (QCDA)

motive8 has been delivering curriculum Physical Education lessons in schools since 2006. motive8 is currently responsible for delivering 24 hours of curriculum Physical Education every week in three schools, Marshgate, Hampton Wick Infants and Kew Riverside.

Working closely alongside the teachers in these schools, motive8 commenced delivery of their new curriculum games sessions in 2009/2010, focusing on a thematic approach rather than sport-specific units of work.

motive8’s Curriculum Content Manager, Philippa McGregor, provided all coaches with the resources required to enable consistent and high quality delivery of the curriculum in the following themes:

Invasion – played end to end, attacking a goal or line target and people can ‘invade’ the other team’s space in order to score

Net/Court/Wall – played within a designated space and usually across a net or line where players play in their own area of court

Striking/Fielding – games which involve batsmen, fielder and bowlers and batters try to strike a ball in order to score

The thematic multi-skills approach has been implemented to ensure:

- young people acquire basic skills (sending, receiving, travelling and making decisions) and develop co-ordination before they advance to more complex aspects
- there is a breadth of games experiences
- children can recognize, develop and transfer strategies and tactics with ease motive8 has also developed new units of work for their coaches to deliver high quality lessons in athletics, gymnastics and dance. These activity areas incorporate current national governing body resources and help to ensure that children attending ‘motive8 schools’ receive a broad and balanced Physical Education curriculum.

“The children form a really close relationship with the motive8 coaches that are assigned to the school. We have seen a marked and rapid improvement in their skill development through the motive8 provision.

Katie Bentham, Acting Headteacher, Marshgate Primary School

“motive8 has become a vital resource in our school, fulfilling our physical education curriculum and enabling us to hit our targets for activity provision.
Debbie Knight, School Business Manager, Kew Riverside Primary School
